Chapter 1 Global Polyimide Tape (Kapton Tape) Market Overview

1.1 Introduction

❑Hearing Protection Device commonly known as (HPD), is basically an ear protection device that is worn in or over the ears, while being exposed to hazardous noise. HPDs help in preventing noise-induced hearing loss, since they are able to reduce (not eliminate) the level of noise entering the ears. There are several types of HPDs available in the market including earmuffs, earplugs, electronic hearing protection devices and semi-mast devices (canal caps).

❑Earmuffs hearing devices are designed to fit over the outer ear, typically consisting of two ear cups and a headband. Ear cups are lined with sound-absorbing material and headband applies pressure to seal ear cups over the ear. Earplugs HPDs are designed to fit in the ear canal, and earplugs comes in a variety of subtypes. Canal caps are similar to earplugs, since they consist of soft tip that is inserted slightly into the ear canal or sits at the opening of the ear canal with connected lightweight band that holds them in position.

❑Global Hearing Protection equipment market is expected to witness steady growth during the forecast period. Increasing number of incidences of hearing loss, due to high noise levels in manufacturing plants and manufacturing sites has led to adoption of HPDs across industries, which serves in the growth of hearing protection devices market. In addition, growing concern for worker safety and enactment of stricter worker safety regulations in developed and developing countries is expected to support the growth of HPDs market.

❑Moreover, rising demand for next-generation HPD in military sector also supports the HPDs market growth. HPDs are widely used in industries such as construction, agriculture, manufacturing, oil & gas, as well as, in many pharmaceutical industries which supports hearing protection devices market growth. Moreover, low cost earplugs launched by manufacturers, are expected to boost demand in developing regions, thereby fueling growth of HPD market.
